Before you start reading the book Look at the cover of the book. The Sun What is the book's title? What is the name of the publisher? Who wrote the book? Look at the back cover. What does the text tell you about the sun? Look at the page where it says "Contents". What does it say is on page 6?

What does it say is on page 14?

What other words do you think about when you hear the words "the sun"?

While reading the book

What is the sun made of?

_____

Why do we have day and night?

_____

_____

| For how long do you have to fly to reach the sun? |  |
|---------------------------------------------------|--|
|                                                   |  |
| What do you see in this photograph?               |  |
| Ly September of a State of Land                   |  |
|                                                   |  |
| What is this colourful light called?              |  |
| When do we see this colourful light in the sky?   |  |
|                                                   |  |

| Read page 15.                            |                     |
|------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Write the missing words from the text.   |                     |
| In some places the air is                |                     |
| In other places the sun                  | the air.            |
| The                                      | meets the warm air. |
| This creates wind, rain and              | •                   |
| After reading the book                   |                     |
| Look at "Keywords" on page 16.           |                     |
| On which page can you read about gas?    |                     |
| On which pages can you read about night? |                     |
|                                          |                     |

